ISRAEL'S NEW PRESIDENT IS SWORN IN—Dr. Isaac Ben-Zvi, 67-year-old leader of the Jewish Labor party, is sworn in the parliament building, Jerusalem, as he took the oath of office to become the second president of Israel. Political and religious leaders of Israel as well as foreign dignitaries were on hand for the inauguration. Ben-Zvi was elected by parliament to a five-year term to succeed President Chaim Weizmann, who died recently.—Central Press Canadian.

NEW BULLET-PROOFING DEVELOPED—A Denver, Col. policeman holds a new, light, bullet-proof material developed to replace heavy metal in bank and military cars. The material, a plastic weight one-quarter as much as steel and will stop a bullet from a rifle or revolver at 20 yards. U.S. army ordnance is studying the material for military use.—Central Press Canadian.

CAPTURE IN MOROCCO—Two Moroccan riflemen reach for the sky under the menace of rifle bolts by hunched Moroccan police guards as they are taken into custody following savage anti-French rioting in Casablanca, a Moroccan suburb. The Moroccans were armed in recent fighting which brought the toll of deaths to at least 50. Police control a large-scale demonstration of thousands of rioters from the riotous quarter and more than 10,000 troops are patrolling the streets to prevent further outbreaks.

NOT ACTING—The daughter of a man who was killed in a riot in Los Angeles is seen in a photo which was taken, she said, just one foot from the window of a Los Angeles hotel. She is estimated that one-half to two-thirds of the world's population had not read, write and figure well enough to satisfy their daily needs.—Central Press Canadian.

ADMIRAL EARL MOUNTBATTEN, who has been named Commander-in-Chief of all but U.S. naval forces in the Mediterranean.

TINY LEAK HALTS ISOTOPE PRODUCTION AT CHALK RIVER, ONT.—Isotope production in the Western world's most powerful heavy water atomic furnace has been knocked out—perhaps for many weeks—as a result of the radioactive "burst" at the $40,000,000 atomic plant at Chalk River, Ont. The "burst," which erupted from the vat-like structure seen in background, surrounded by mass of equipment in foreground used for various kinds of experiments, spread over the 100-building area. Although it was not considered particularly dangerous to the human body, about 1,200 workers were evacuated until a decontamination squad could clean up. Dr. David A. Keys, head of co-ordinating committee at Chalk River, believes that investigation into the leak will in itself be important to science since it may reveal some hitherto unknown atomic energy reactions on metals.

Those concerned with the production of isotopes, one of which is now being used for the shipment, found their work had been cut by the pile furnace, now in the process of "cooling off." The expensive heavy water in the atomic pile has been drained off and stored, but there is no way of withdrawing the radioactivity in the pile itself. Scientists must wait until the furnace "cools down" and the radioactivity is dissipated by normal atmospheric change before they can scrutinize its studies.—Central Press Canadian Photos.

RESEARCH AIDS TREE FARMERS—This heavy bundle of logs will slide down a 1,200 foot wire, break apart at the bottom, and pile up near a convenient road landing without anyone touching it after it is made up. The system, devised by Alex Klenner, (right), director of mechanical research, Pulp and Paper Research Institute of Canada, McGill University, allows wood to be harvested in otherwise inaccessible sites, and may be used by any farmer on his own woodland. At left is M. R. Wilson, director of the Harrington Forest Farm, a Canadian International Paper Company experimental project, where the new wire sliding method was demonstrated to some 40 members of the Institute. The Harrington Forest Farm is situated near Grenville, P.Q.

BUS TAKES DETOUR INTO RIVER, ONE INJURED—This bus took an unexpected detour on its way to and plunged off a bridge into the Severn river near North Bay, Ont., giving the passengers a severe jolt and wet feet. Only one out of 16 in the bus was reported injured. The bus driver opened the rear safety door and led the passengers out.—Central Press Canadian.

HANDING OVER OF HIGHLAND BATTALION AT HANOVER—Following a full unit inspection and march-past by the 1st Canadian Highland Battalion in their colorful kilts at Hanover, Germany, Lt.-Col. R. L. Rutherford, C.B.E. (right), of Winnipeg, is seen handing over command of the battalion to Lt.-Col. H. A. Parker, of Toronto, (left). The ceremony took place on the moon-covered parade square at Chatham House.—Central Press Canadian.

MOTOR "FURRED" LIKE A KITTEN—Elmer Kleinman, who spent five hours investigating strange noises in the motor of his car after he had driven to work in Indianapolis, found this tiny grey kitten, sleek but shy. It was hidden from view on a shelf under the car's hood above the radiator where it had apparently crawled to keep warm during the night. A source of milk soon revived it.

JAP RAILWAY WORKERS STRIKE—A railway sit-down strike is one of a series of labor protests recently under way in Tokyo. The union members are appealing for public support in their demands for a two-cent bonus equivalent to 10 per cent of their monthly wage. Photo, (top), shows union members in their sit-down strike in front of the office of the transportation ministry. They wear white masks to prevent spread of respiratory disease. This is not a strike in the general sense, since trains are operating daily during the sit-down strike. Photo above shows the railway members riding bicycles marked with slogans appealing for public support.—Central Press Canadian.
